

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE, May 9, 2011 REMIS AMERICA's Dehn to Expand Production Lines

(ELKHART, INDIANA) Growing demand for REMIS AMERICA's energy saving products has created the need for increased US production capacity. The company's first step toward doing that is hiring Bill Dehn as Project Manager. Dehn will play an integral role in transferring several lines from REMIS GmbH's factory in Epe, Germany to REMIS AMERICA's Elkhart, IN, facility.

As Project Manager, Dehn will concentrate on the production planning of new lines and refining REMIS' existing production methods. This includes all steps from planning periods to assisting with jig or work cell construction. Dehn will be responsible for coordinating REMIS AMERICA's production methods with those used at REMIS GmbH's factory in Epe, Germany.

"We are very excited to have Bill join REMIS AMERICA," comments Kevin Shrider, Vice President of Operations. "His production planning expertise in the refrigeration industry is exactly what we need to grow our American-made product offering."

Dehn comes to REMIS AMERICA from Tyler Refrigeration of Niles, Michigan where for 22 years he served as Designer, Plant Product Engineer, and Product Manager, respectively. He attended Central Michigan University where he received his Secondary Education degree and Bethel College where he received his Organizational Management degree. He enjoys playing golf, hunting, ice fishing, and watching ice hockey and lives in Niles, Michigan, with his wife.
