REMIS AMERICA Doors Installed in BI-LO Store

(ELKHART, INDIANA) REMIS AMERICA completed its first installation for BI-LO at the company's Greenville, SC, store last week. REMIS installed its REMIsafe French-open hinged doors on 108 feet of previously open dairy cases at the 101 Verdae Boulevard store.

According to Dennis Gibson, Director Maintenance and Energy Services at BI-LO, "We decided to cover our cases for a couple of reasons. First, since over half of the average supermarket's energy use is consumed by refrigeration systems, we wish to significantly reduce our utility consumption."

"Second, doors help maintain more accurate and even temperatures, which leads to improved product integrity. All of the products are evenly cooled so product quality is across the board. And if a power outage were to occur, the insulated glass doors would protect the product for longer than if the cases were left open, reducing any need to risk damaging the product by moving it to a colder spot."

Gibson also commented that reducing the cold air spillage into the store will drastically improve the temperature in the aisle for customers. "Aisle temperatures average around 71 degrees with doors versus close to 60 degrees without doors, so we are creating a more hospitable shopping experience for our customers."

REMIS AMERICA offers retro-fit refrigeration doors and covers to grocery retailers and OEM case manufacturers that cut energy costs up to 80% while also greatly reducing retailers' carbon footprint.

REMIS AMERICA'S, eco-friendly, energy saving systems are unrivaled in keeping energy consumption low by providing a full range of medium temperature insulated glass doors and bunker freezer covers, installation and service.
